Alcohol Liaison Service (page 1 of 3)

What we do

Hospital admissions due to alcohol related problems are becoming increasingly common.

The purpose of the Alcohol Liaison Team is to give you the opportunity to look at the way alcohol may be affecting your life.

You will be offered a session with an Alcohol Liaison Nurse (as either an inpatient or outpatient) where you can have an informal discussion with a member of the team. You may then be offered further follow up sessions if this is felt to be appropriate.

The sessions are private, confidential and on a one to one basis.

The sessions will include

- information about alcohol
- review of your current drinking pattern
- opportunity to look at your current drinking patterns and at possible ways of making a change
- referral to other organisations if this is felt to be appropriate and you agree
- time to discuss any concerns or answer any questions you may have.

After the session, you should have a greater understanding of the effect your drinking has on yourself, others, and how to avoid high risk drinking situations.

Current alcohol recommendations

- maximum of 14 units each week spread over at least 3 days
- no alcohol when pregnant

One unit of alcohol is equivalent to half a pint of 4% regular beer, lager or cider, 1 small glass (125ml 9%) wine, 1 single measure of spirits, 1 small glass of sherry or 1 single measure of aperitifs.

How do I get referred?

- you can ask to be referred to us at any point during your time in hospital by asking any member of the nursing or medical staff
- alternatively you can self refer by calling the service on the number below
- choosing to see the nurse is completely voluntary.

Did you know?

- alcohol is not a stimulant, it’s a depressant and can affect the way medication is absorbed
- the higher the percentage of alcohol the more units in that drink
- a healthy liver works hard to get rid of the alcohol in your body but it still takes 1 hour to get rid of 1 unit of alcohol. Each standard glass of wine will take 2 hours to leave your system.
